KEY OFFICERS OF FOREIGN SERVICE POSTS

Guide for Businessmen

The Guide for Businessmen lists key officers at Foreign Service posts with whom American businessmen would most likely have contact—the Chiefs and Deputy Chiefs of Missions, the senior officers of the political, economic, and commercial sections of the post, the agricultural attaches, and the senior officer for the Agency for International Development (AID). All embassies, legations, and consulates general are listed.

This guide is intended to help you determine which section of a particular foreign service post could best assist you or your firm with regard either to a specific problem or some general issue.

At the head of each U.S. diplomatic mission are the Chief of Mission, with the title of Ambassador or Minister, and the Deputy Chief of Mission. These officers are responsible for the entire U.S. mission within a country, including all consular posts as well as the embassy.

Political officers participate in negotiations to further U.S. political objectives. They analyze and report on political developments of internal or international significance.

Economic officers take part in negotiations relating to our economic policy objectives and analyze and report on economic matters. At the smaller posts they also perform the functions of the commercial officer.

The commercial officer's primary responsibility is to promote the trade, travel, and private investment interests of the United States. These officers help develop trade contacts and export opportunities; arrange appointments for U.S. businessmen and assist in contacts with local government officials; support special overseas activities of the Department of Commerce, such as trade centers, trade missions, and trade fairs; and report on business trends, market potentials, and laws and customs that affect U.S. commercial interests. They also work toward eliminating any discriminatory treatment of U.S. business interests.

The agricultural attache, an officer of the U.S. Department of Agriculture attached to a post, reports on agricultural production, trade policy, and market developments in his area and promotes U.S. agricultural exports.

The AID Mission Director is responsible for AID programs, including dollar and local currency loans to governments and private enterprises, grants, investment guaranties, technical assistance, and fellowships.

Names of individuals are given in this booklet for the convenience of businessmen who are visiting or telephoning a post. However, if you are writing to a post, it would be best to address your letter to a section or position, in case an individual has been transferred or is on leave.

More extensive listings of personnel at Foreign Service posts are presented in the quarterly Foreign Service List. The List is available from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C., 20402, at 70 cents a single copy and $2.50 for a year's subscription (50 cents additional for foreign mailing).
